The RapidMOOC enables you to quickly and professionally capture short videos to promote a project or team, to explain a concept, introduce a service, create training videos for software etc. It uses a green screen to put a head and shoulder shot of you in front of PowerPoint (or any other screen content) – think weather forecasts.

RapidMOOC is quick and easy to use. In collaboration with the Saïd Business School, we are running workshops on the RapidMOOC:

This workshop introduces you to a real HTML page and under guidance from your teacher, you will explore how HTML works without getting into the detail of the language syntax. Once you have seen how a page is constructed, you will start an interactive online course that will give you a structured introduction to the language. The online course can be continued after the workshop, and for the following three weeks you will have access to the workshop leader to ask questions about the course or to get clarification about the concepts.

- Introduction to HTML and the structure of an HTML page
- An overview of the components that make up the HTML language
- Common tags and how they change the appearance of your content
- Dos and don'ts of editing HTML
